of Amendment.

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—The Supreme Court refused today to reconsider its decision of last June 7. sustaining validity of the prohibition amendment and portions of the enforcement act.

The rehearing had been asked in petition filed by Christian Feigenspan, a brewer of Newark N. J. and George C. Dempsey, a wholesale liquor dealer, of Boston, Mass.

Rehearing of the Feigenspan case was sought on the ground that the court failed to state the reason for its conclusion in holding the amendment valid; that inadequate time had been allowed for the presentation of the case and that the court's construction of the section of the amendment relating to "recurrent power" made Congress' authority practically paramount and nullified the effect intended by the Senate and House.

The Dempsey petition was based on the claim that neither the amendment nor the enforcement act was intended to prohibit the manufacture or sale of beverages containing small quantities of alcohol where such beverages were not in fact intoxicating. the Soviet government and is recruitording to advices reaching the has informed General Wrangel, the anti-Bolshevist leader in South Rus-

It has been history in the automotive industry that the life of many manufacturers has been limited to a few years of exceptional prosperity.

Whenever business conditions cease to be at the peak those makers who have been building their product to meet a popular market are forced from business. And it is equally true that those makers who have built their product to meet an ideal, and who have marketed it upon its quality, continue to enjoy a permanent and prosperous trade.

The makers of GMC trucks have in ten years of truck building demonstrated the permanency of their business and also enduring quality of GMC trucks.
